The Manager,
Museum Review Secretariat.

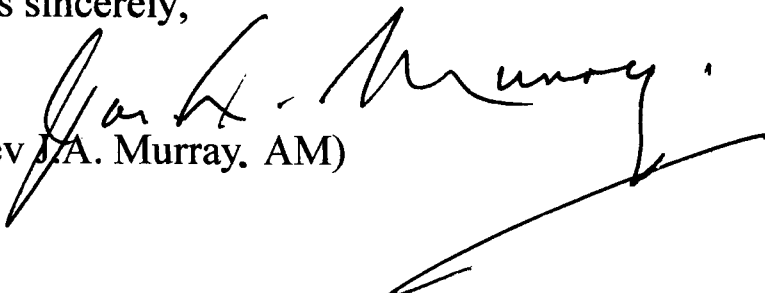

Dear Ms Harrison,

Just a few comments to add the voices of wife and myself. Our first impression of visiting the Museum was delight. First for the warm attitude of both staff and volunteers, secondly for absence of an institutional attitude throughout. Friends from inter-state also expressed similar views.

As retired people we have infrequent visits due to need of travelling using two buses each way, consequently these visits offer extreme pleasure as we move around and enjoy the comprehensive catering as well as the exhibits. Our membership of the FRIENDS group is a further benefit.

The atmosphere and vision occupies a prominent cultural attraction for young and old as well as being a national treasure.

Yours sincerely,

(Rev J.A. Murray. AM)
